Salute to Ohio

The year 1953 is one of deep historical significance to Xaverians, for it marks the 150th anniversary of the State of Ohio's admission into the United States of America. Xavier University and the Society of Jesus have been a part of the Commonwealth's existence since 1851.

The name "Ohio" comes from the Iroquois and means "great," a particularly fitting term. Indeed, the State has within her borders many of those factors which provide the greatness of America, and the life of the State seems to parallel that of the nation as a whole.

Just as the first colonists in the New World found a wilderness of awesome grandeur, so did the first settlers who came West to Ohio territory. Civilization gradually emerged where the wilderness had stood, as early Ohioans formed settlements and laid out farms on the land's virgin fields and forests. Towns and cities, business and industry, churches and schools, and other evidence of progress and culture came to be.

Even today Ohio is America in miniature. Her cities—like Cincinnati, which has been called the city closest to the heart of America—are busy and beautiful. She has within her boundaries most of the resources, the manufacturing facilities, and the markets with which to sustain herself. Her economy is as diversified as that of any other state in the Union. Her agriculture and her factories are as varied as it is desirable for them to be. Her religious spirit is excellent, and her educational institutions are strong. Her transportation systems, her communication arteries, and her public utilities rival all others. And she offers limitless recreational opportunities.

As Ohioans look back on a century and a half of growth and achievement, they know that their State's future promises to be even more rewarding, more brilliant, than her past.

With a prayer of gratitude for the past and of supplication for the years to come, Xavier University proudly participates in the Sesquicentennial observance.

STATE

Dedication

On August 28, 1749, the first religious service in Ohio territory was offered at the mouth of the Little Miami River. It was a Mass celebrated by a Jesuit Father, the Reverend Joseph de Bonnekamp.

When Ohio was admitted into the Union, the Church was still a part of the Diocese of Baltimore. In 1808 the Diocese of Bardstown was established, and Ohio was transferred to its jurisdiction. In 1821 the Diocese of Cincinnati was constituted for the six thousand Catholics in Ohio. Today that number has risen to six hundred thousand.

Throughout the one hundred and fifty years that Ohio has been a part of the United States, therefore, the Catholic Church has labored for the sanctification of Ohioans and of the State itself, ad maiorem Dei gloriam.

Since the worth of a State and its citizens is to be measured far more by its faith in God and by the goodness of its people than by its material success, its industries and businesses, its highways and railroads, its schools and cultural institutions—

The staff of The Musketeer '53, with a fervent Deo Gratias, dedicates its Ohio Sesquicentennial edition—

To the Church in Ohio—

To the Metropolitan See, the Archdiocese of Cincinnati, and—

To its Suffragan Sees, the Dioceses of Cleveland, Columbus, Steubenville, Toledo, and Youngstown.

Through one hundred and twenty-two years Xavier has existed in Cincinnati, Ohio. During this time great-grandfathers, grandfathers, fathers and sons have sat in its classrooms. There they have absorbed not just the beginnings of their own personal education, but the religious and moral principles which have become the foundations of our civic and national life.

At present thirty-seven Jesuit Fathers and fifty-four lay professors instruct some two thousand students from twenty-one states and five foreign lands, thus carrying on the traditions begun a century and a quarter ago.

In these pages the Musketeer '53 presents in words and pictures the record of the persons and events—some great, others relatively insignificant—that were a part of Xavier in its One Hundred and Twenty-Second Year.

Requiescant

Xaverians were shocked by the news of the death of Mr. Albert D. Cash, '16, on August 2, 1952. Caught in a sudden squall while on Torch Lake in Michigan, his boat capsized. Mr. Cash had served four terms as Mayor of Cincinnati and eight terms in City Council. He was a former President of Xavier University Alumni Association.

Archbishop Karl J. Alter spoke the sentiments of the community as well as of the University: "The City of Cincinnati has suffered a great loss in the untimely death of Albert Cash. Deep sincerity of purpose, strong convictions, broad and generous sympathies for all classes within the community characterized the late Mayor of this metropolis. His outstanding ability and driving energy were freely dedicated to the service of his community. In his private life, the edification of a high and noble example matched the integrity of his character in the fulfillment of public duties."

In Pace

Xavier University lost an interested and loyal friend when Mr. Charles F. Williams, member of the University's Lay Advisory Board, passed away on September 11, 1952. Mr. Williams received the honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Xavier in 1933 in recognition of his humanitarian and civic service. He was a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory, and was Master Knight of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta, both Papal honors.

President James F. Maguire, S.J., issued the following statement: "Words of eulogy about Charles Finn Williams can be forgotten. His works of goodness and humanity, however, will live forever. He was a great citizen and a great personality. He never hid his convictions—about work and individual enterprise, about the place of religion in life, about the pride in his Irish ancestry. We at Xavier University are proud of the fact that his memorial on our campus is an interest-free fund that makes it possible for worthy students to finance their education. Thus, down the corridor of time does he extend the helping hand to young men, who, because of him, will be better citizens and better men."

Metaphysics

The student who comes to Xavier studies a philosophical and theological system which is true, hence unchanging; old in time, yet perennial in its timelessness. The philosophy is that of Aristotle and St. Thomas Aquinas. The body of defined Catholic dogma, supplemented by a centuries-old tradition, comprises the theology. The Xavier student leaves his Alma Mater with an adequate and consistent rational explanation of reality, himself, his purpose, and his society. He has, in addition, been made acquainted with the rational foundations of his faith, as well as its revealed teachings. The Xavier graduate, in short, should be ideally fitted by virtue of his Jesuit philosophical and theological training, to take his place as an apostle of truth in a society which so pathetically needs a faith to live by.

Aesthetics

Education and psychology have legitimate functions to fulfill in the training of teachers and in the scientific investigation of the phenomena of human behavior, respectively. One of the most important functions of a liberal arts college is to inculcate correct habits in reading, writing, and speaking, as well as to acquaint students with significant English and American literature. Thus the English faculty plays its role in the Jesuit educational process. Interested students are given opportunity, through music appreciation courses, to acquire a deeper knowledge of the great music of the Western world. In addition, they may exercise their musical talents in the school band and concert orchestra. The Honors program of Xavier University represents a sincere effort to restore the classical languages to their rightful place in the curriculum. Students in it and in the regular Bachelor of Arts program are enabled through reading the literary works of Greece and Rome to understand the ideas and values which, coupled with the Christian tradition, comprise Western civilization.

History has its place in the liberal arts curriculum as the study wherein the student sees panorama of past events orderly arranged in time, importance, and significance. Only through a proper appreciation of history can man understand the causes and conditions influencing today's world situation, because many of these causes have been centuries in the making. In the liberal arts training the study of the modern languages is traditional. Among the benefits derived from a knowledge of French, German, and Spanish are augmented English vocabulary and the habits of exactitude and discipline involved in the process of translation. Nor is the humanizing value gained from reading foreign literature overlooked.

The blooming of modern science did not catch the Jesuits unawares. Ever since the founding of the Order, the Society of Jesus has encouraged and trained men who later achieved pre-eminence in their fields. Realizing the increasing importance of the sciences in modern civilization, the Jesuits gradually improved programs of scientific study in their collegiate curricula. Students who receive their scientific preparation in Jesuit schools are continually reminded by the example and the teaching of their professors of the proper relation between the natural sciences and the other branches of knowledge. Always emphasized is the crucial truth that science can give only a partial explanation of reality, and must look to philosophy for first principles. The result is that graduates are proficient in their chosen scientific fields, but also possess an educated man's respect for other areas of knowledge.

In a civilization which is predominantly commercial, the main responsibility for educating citizens for business has devolved upon the colleges. Jesuit educators, cognizant of the trend, early set up faculties in commercial studies. These steps were taken with a view to enabling young men primarily interested in business careers to enjoy the fruits of a Catholic education. The course now includes almost all business administration subjects. Vitally important training also is offered in philosophy, theology, and the other liberal arts. As a result of this Jesuit business training, men who are themselves apostles of Christianity enter the business world each year. They understand that the moral law binds in the market place as well as elsewhere.

Brockman Hall as it will appear from Victory Parkway.

Brockman Hall

Brockman Hall, named for the Very Reverend Hubert F. Brockman, S.J., President of the University from 1922 to 1930, is the newest unit of the dormitory system at Xavier University, and will have accommodations for 300 students. The impressive horizontal lines of the building will show to excellent advantage on the terraced site selected at the northern extremity of the East Campus. Architect Albert V. Walters, A.I.A., who designed the Shrine of Our Lady, the R.O.T.C. Armory, and Logan Hall, has combined Xavier's traditional architectural style with a modern expression of line, trim, and proportion. In color, surface texture and overall character Brockman Hall will blend perfectly with the present group of Tudor Gothic buildings that line the East rim of the campus. Ground was broken for the new building by the Most Reverend Karl J. Alter, Archbishop of Cincinnati, on Family Day, May 16, 1953. Brockman Hall will be ready for occupancy in September, 1954.

Retrospect

With typical registration confusion and excitement, with greetings between friends, and with an occasional "I can't get into that class. It's closed," the academic year 1952-53 began. Students learned that eight new names had been added to the faculty roster: Rev. Patrick Ratterman, S.J., dean of men; Rev. Clifford Besse, S.J., economics; Rev. John Wenzel, S.J., theology; Rev. Bernard Wuellner, S.J., philosophy; Dr. Thomas Hailstones, economics; Dr. Daniel de Guzman, modern languages; Mr. Donald Schulte, biology; and Mr. Herbert Newman, music appreciation. And Mr. John Moser had become director of development for the University.

Construction of Logan Hall was progressing steadily. The chemists would be in it in another year. . . . Undergraduate classes were again on a five-day basis, to the delight of all. . . . The Graduate Division had announced the inauguration of a program leading to the Master's degree in Business Administration.

President Maguire graciously welcomed three hundred and fifty frosh. The Traditions Committee greeted them less graciously, and handed subpoenas to the beanie-less. The yearlings started the year's social program with their Orientation Dance in the Armory on September 26. Through contacts made at the dance, on the campus, and at the weekly orientation lectures, they were able to elect class officers: Jack Carroll, president; John Moorman, veep; John Grupenhoff, secretary; and William Hocter, treasurer.

Student Council

The 1952-53 Student Council proved itself one of the most active in recent years.

Under the direction of Council President Gerald Bourne and Rev. Patrick J. Ratterman, S.J., faculty advisor, the Council sponsored such activities as the Homecoming Dance and Float Parade, the Snowball Dance, the Student Directory, and two Red Cross Bloodmobile visits to the Xavier campus. Cooperation was given also to the Freshman Orientation Week program, the Variety Club's drive for mentally retarded children, the Family Life Conference, and Family Day.

Officers of the Student Council were Gerald Bourne, president; John Schaefer, vice-president; Paul Cain, secretary; Peter McCarthy, treasurer; Stewart Kelly, chairman, Student Athletic Board; Richard Hogan, chairman, Social Committee, and John Cade, chief justice, Judicial Board.

Committeemen DeFrancis, Kelly, Hogan, Cade, Koechlin.

Campus Committee

The Campus Committee can point to the revision of its constitution in late February as its most important single accomplishment of the current school year. In addition, the fifteen-member Committee continued to promote spiritual, social, and academic activities for Xavier dormitory students.

In line with its policy of throwing full weight behind the religious program at Xavier, the Campus Committee collaborated with the Sodality in urging dorm students to the nightly recitation of the Rosary during October and May, and in advocating daily attendance at Mass during Lent.

Climaxing the Committee's fall social program was the pep rally before the Xavier-UC football contest. This rally was generally admitted to be one of the most successful of the season from all standpoints.

During the second semester, members of the Campus Committee turned their major efforts toward the complete refurnishing of the basement of the Union Building for an attractive recreation room. A new floor, a television set, and ping-pong and pool tables were among the facilities made available for use of the dorm students.

Officers were chosen in mid-year elections. Patrick Levine served as president, Kevin Krigbaum as vice-president, and Gerald O'Neill as secretary-treasurer. Rev. Robert C. Goodenow, S.J., guided the Committee in the capacity of faculty moderator.

Sodality

If there is an activity which more than any other can be said to be a tradition in Jesuit schools, it is the Sodality of Mary. Through a program of devotions and apostolicity, the Sodality encourages its members to develop spirituality on all levels of life.

The school year 1952-53 saw the Sodality expand its membership at an unprecedented rate. In May induction ceremonies approximately fifty new members were received after a probation period lasting three months.

Sodalists' activities are manifold. The Sodality Discussion Club was originated to air views on pertinent topics. Chapel rosary recitations, sponsorship of May Day and May devotions, monthly days of recollection, and the Human Alarm Clock for daily Mass attendance during Lent were among the group's endeavors.

The Sodality does not confine its apostolic program to the Xavier campus. It does much good work among the poor. A Christmas Food and Clothing Drive aimed at the student body paved the way for cheering the Christmas of many needy children. Sodalists were sent to the Santa Maria Institute to conduct recreation programs, and to Saint Andrew's Church for catechetical work with released-time public school children.

Serving as prefect of the Sodality was James Winkler. Basil Najjar was vice-prefect; Richard Tobin, secretary; and Joseph Burke, treasurer. Rev. Frank Dietz, S.J., was faculty director, and Rev. John Wenzel, S.J., and Rev. Raymond Allen, S.J., acted as moderators.

N.F.C.C.S.

The purpose of the National Federation of Catholic College Students is to train Catholic lay leaders and to promote Catholic unity in the United States. Dedicated to this two-fold task, the Xavier branch of the N.F.C.C.S. participates in a very full program throughout the year.

The first major event of 1952-53 was the regional workshop held in October at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel in Columbus. Senior delegate Philip Walker headed a large contingent of Xavier students and club officers to the meeting. Lawrence Blank was chairman of the forensics panel, and Alfred Cordes was chairman of the family relations panel.

Another important event of the year was the Regional Congress conducted May 1 at the Fenwick Club in Cincinnati. A fine representation of Xavier men attended.

The biggest event of the year for Xavier and the Ohio-Kentucky Region was the National Congress of the Federation to be held in August at the Sheraton-Gibson Hotel in Cincinnati. The members of the Ohio-Kentucky Region worked hard to make the Congress a success. Delegates from the four corners of the country were to attend.

Philip Walker was Xavier's senior delegate until he graduated in January and was succeeded by Alfred Cordes. Other officers named by the students were Patrick Levine, junior delegate; John Grinstead, alternate delegate; William Charles, secretary-treasurer; and John Moorman, chairman of Xavier's participation in the National Congress. Rev. Maurice Link, S.J., was faculty advisor.

Seated: O'Neill, Burke, Francis, Khayat, Rice. Standing: Dr. Peters, Sherlock, O'Brien, Drugan, Gleeson, Fitzpatrick, Grinstead.

Political Forum

The Political Forum took its place this year among the other Xavier campus organizations. Its objective is the examination and discussion of questions dealing with international, domestic, and municipal law and politics.

The Forum and its activities are of special interest to students of pre-law, political science, and history, but other students are also welcomed into the organization.

Members of the Forum assembled for their first regular meeting on March 16. Judge Clarence Denning of the Cincinnati Municipal Court gave the principal address, speaking on the history, functions, and importance of the Municipal Court.

The Political Forum met monthly for the remainder of the school year.

The first president of the Political Forum was Habeeb Khayat. Other officers included Richard Francis, vice - president; and Jerry O'Neill, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Frank Peters served as faculty advisor.

Fritsch, Willke, Ryan, Father Conry, and Blank plan N.F.C.C.S. Debate Tournament held at Xavier April 18.

Poland Philopedian Society

The one hundred and twelve year old Poland Philopedian Society again represented Xavier University in debate activities. Debaters traveled over four thousand miles to argue the national intercollegiate debate topic: Resolved: That the Congress of the United States should enact a compulsory fair employment practices law.

In addition to numerous individual intercollegiate debates both at Xavier and on other campuses, Philopedian debaters participated in a total of thirteen regional and national tournaments. In the traditional Grand National Tournament at Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia in Fredricksburg, the Xavier team of Robert Siegenthaler and James Ryan captured the Grand Eastern Championship. Siegenthaler was also named among the top ten debaters participating.

The Philopedians also reinitiated and played host to the nationwide National Forensics Commission Tournament of the N.F.C.C.S. late in April.

Officers were James Ryan, president; Albert Fritsch, vice-president; Robert Siegenthaler, recording secretary; Lawrence Blank, corresponding secretary; and Thomas Willke, treasurer. Rev. Thomas Conry, S.J., was faculty advisor.

Seated: Blank, Ryan, Lippert, Siegenthaler. Standing: Hellcamp, Cash, Grupenhoff, Mohs, Gladis, Kerver.

Xavier University News

The Xavier University News continued this year to fulfill its unique campus function—to report all news relating to Xavier, to entertain and instruct through its columns, to comment editorially on pertinent issues, and to serve as a forum of student opinion.

The attempt was also made this year to enlarge the scope of the paper's news and editorial coverage. In addition to campus matters, feature articles were presented on national and international questions such as Korea, the presidential election, Communism in government, the drafting of college students, and education as it is or should be. The editorial writers throughout attempted to present their views on such questions against a backdrop of Christian principles.

At the end of the first semester a precedent was set as junior Tom Lippert became editor. Tom Kerver and Charles Austin, freshmen, were made associate editors. Former editor Howard Schapker remained as senior advisor. The reason cited for the action was to insure an orderly staff change-over, and hence the uniform quality served the entire school year.

Continuing in their capacities of faculty moderator and faculty editorial advisor were Mr. Bernard Martin and Rev. Victor Stechschulte, S.J., respectively.

The Musketeer

The Musketeer '53 is the twenty-seventh yearbook of Xavier University, and its staff have tried to equal the quality of journalism achieved by their predecessors.

From the first day of registration to Commencement Day the events of the year have been chronicled to the best of the staff's ability. They hope that their work has been well done. If it has not been, they express regret, and hope for understanding readers. If it has met the standards of the earlier Musketeers, their satisfaction in that achievement is sufficient reward.

Robert Fitzpatrick was editor-in-chief, Anthony Damico did the art work, James O'Connell handled sports, and Martin Daly was student photographer. Other members of the staff were Howard Schapker, Justin Huber, John Moorman, Don Hellkamp, David Hunter, Logan Rapier, and Donald Ehrhart. Dr. Charles Wheeler was faculty consultant.

Seated: Fitzpatrick. Standing: Huber, Moorman, Schapker, Rapier, O'Connell, Daly, Ehrhart.

The Athenaeum

Although hit hard by graduation losses, the Athenaeum staff managed to present a spring issue of Xavier's literary magazine which in every way was a credit to the school. Following tradition, a balanced and stimulating offering of short stories, essays, poetry, book reviews, and editorials greeted the reader.

The Athenaeum is the outlet for student literary talent. Contributions are solicited from the entire student body, and the best of the material received is published. The magazine has always encouraged creative effort.

At the helm of the 1952-53 magazine was Justin Huber, editor-in-chief. James Hogan and John Grissmer were associate editors. Art work was handled by Anthony Damico. Rev. Walter Dimond, S.J., served as faculty advisor.

Hogan, Damico, Huber, Grissmer.

"The speculative intellect contemplates order merely for the sake of knowing it; this activity is delightful in itself and is an end in itself. . . . The practical intellect, on the other hand, considers order with a view to bringing it about in things. It is subdivided into prudence, which aims to perfect the individual himself by making the right judgment for achieving happiness; and into the activities of art, which strives to perfect and order some object external to the agent."

—Thomas Gallagher in the Athenaeum.

Mermaid Tavern

"We write, write, write, write, write, write, write—we write the whole day long."

These words from one of the many Mermaid Tavern song parodies show that Xavier's literary organization is still going strong, as the Taverners continue to spill ink and energy under the patronage of their Green Lady.

Now in its twenty-second year, the Tavern has built up an interesting and worthy tradition. It maintains most of the customs and rules adopted in its early years. Rev. Paul Sweeney, S.J., founder of the Tavern, still acts as director or "warder."

The membership of the Tavern numbers about fifteen. "Questants," students seeking admission to the Tavern, are accepted twice a year. They must be recommended by the English faculty, and their work is passed upon by the Taverners. The induction ritual marks their acceptance into the group.

The Tavern meets every Monday night in the "Friday Room" on the third floor of Union Hall. Eight graduate or "all-patron" meetings also are held during the year.

The fourteenth volume of the Tavernacular, the Mermaid Tavern's private magazine, was published during 1952-53 in four issues—one of these being the third book of song parodies which the Taverners have authored.

The year saw the resumption of the Tavern-News football game. The Tavern began the new series with a 32-24 victory.

James Hogan served as "host" this year, and William Braun was "drawer."

Xavier Presents

Xavier Presents is the title of the student-produced radio show first aired in 1946. It was revised for television three years later, and is presented on a weekly basis each spring over WCPO-TV. Its claim to being the oldest college TV show in continuing production is probably indisputable.

The Xavier Presents series was planned to give Xavier undergraduates experience in writing scripts, in recruiting talent from their own campus and from neighboring schools, in rehearsing and producing, and in participating as announcers, actors, musicians, and dancers.

Each show includes entertainers from other colleges and universities in this section of the country. Faculty director of the activity is Rev. James McCummiskey, S.J.

Front: Lonneman, Gratsch, Flynn, Dixon, Moore, Taylor, Braun. Back: Mountel, Sedler, Moring, Stephens, Meredith, Vester, Beeber.

Masque Society

During 1952-53 the Masque Society concentrated its efforts upon its production of its second Shakesperean work in the past two seasons. The organization decided to follow its highly acclaimed version of Othello with a presentation of Romeo and Juliet.

Paul Palmisano and Ruth Ann Schumacher were cast in the title roles. William Sweeney was Mercutio, James Dresen was Benvolio, William Fellerhoff was Capulet, and Jane Davoran was the nurse. Other members of the cast were John Grissmer, Jean Wedig, Shirley Fischer, John and James Brandabur, Robert McDonald, Edmund Auchter, Edward Garipoli, and Richard Struckman. James Carson handled the lighting effects.

The Masquers were headed by James Brandabur, and Romeo and Juliet was directed by Mr. Victor Dial.

Clef Club

The Clef Club this year proved as it has in the past that artistic excellence can be achieved only at the expense of continuous, year-long practice. After a first semester spent in preparation, the Xavier male chorus initiated its spring concert season on March 12 with a concert before the students of Villa Madonna College.

From this triumph the Club, composed of sixty students, went on to fill approximately ten other engagements, singing before audiences of various local schools and institutions. May 6 and 7 saw the choristers perform for the student bodies of Louisville and Nazareth Colleges.

But as is traditional with the Clef Club, all efforts point ultimately to the high point of their season, the annual spring concert and dance, which was scheduled this year for May 15. A noteworthy list of choral and solo selections was programed.

Mr. Franklin Bens completed his fifteenth year as director of the Clef Club, bringing to his position long years of professional experience in the teaching and singing fields. Mr. Henri Golembiewski was the Club's accompanist.

The list of officers for the 1953 Clef Club included William Conway, president; Frank DeFrancis, vice-president; William Fellerhoff, treasurer; and Robert George, secretary. Librarians were Jack Carroll and Charles Marcellino. Paul Cain and Cyril Schrimpf, served as business managers.

In its twenty-sixth year the Musketeer Band showed that it has become an integral part of Xavier's football contests. Through their spectacular half-time shows the bandsmen added that special something to the gridiron season which today's fans have come to expect and look forward to.

All told, the Band participated in eight of the ten Musketeer contests, missing only the Boston and the first Dayton game. In the opening game against Quantico on September 21 an unusually expert first performance, which revolved around the Red Cross, was presented. A week later the Camp LeJeune Marines were duly saluted.

The Bandsmen made their first road trip of the season on October 4, journeying to the picturesque Miami University campus at Oxford, Ohio. A highspot of the season occurred the week following at the UC game when the Band presented what is generally conceded to be its most dazzling performance of the season. New marching steps and exacting precision movements highlighted the show.

Homecoming Day on October 13 saw the Band play its part in the general festivities. The theme of the show was one of welcome to the old grads. Remaining football contests in which the Band participated were the Villanova, John Carroll (at Cleveland), and the second Dayton games.

Just to show that its heart is in the right place the band salutes the Homecoming Queen and her court.

In addition to its football chores, the Band took part in the impressive Marian Day celebration at Xavier on October 7, and in the traditional Holy Name parade a week later.

Continuing as Musketeer Band Director this year was Mr. Gilbert T. Maringer, who has guided the fortunes of the Band since 1947. He again proved during the past season that he has mastered the art of arranging a show around a central theme and introducing each movement in such a way as to further emphasize and explain that theme. In addition, the Maringer shows are never lacking in humor.

Student leaders of the Band took their jobs no less seriously than their director. They included Larry Niemeyer, president; John Boggs, vice-president; Joseph Hingsbergen, secretary-treasurer; and Ron Bova, social chairman. Henry Shea was in charge of the properties crew, which contributed much to the Band's success by constructing all props and settings used in the half-time performances. Tom Lippert served as the Band's public address announcer.

Rounding out their regular service to the Xavier Band were Drum Major Harry Buttelwerth and his ten-year-old sister, Donna.

Paralleling the growth in importance of the Band's football half-time performances have been its concerts during the basketball season. Each season, the Band has been asked to extend its concert schedule to include more games until this year the bandmen were present at most of the games played in the Xavier Fieldhouse and Cincinnati Gardens. At these performances the Band presented diversified programs ranging from pop music to marches and classical renditions.

Following the basketball season a special detachment of bandmen provided the marching music for the spring R.O.T.C. Corps Day exercises.

The Band formally wrote finis to its excellent and much appreciated efforts of the 1952-53 season with the annual banquet. At this time deserving bandmen received their letters and awards, as well as the official gratitude of the Xavier administration.

French Club

The French Club, L'Equipe, met bi-monthly to study French culture, language, and customs.

Al Cordes was president; Robert Murray, Charles Consiglio, William Stieger, and Donald Butler were other officers. Mr. Daniel de Guzman was advisor.

Heidelberg Club

The Heidelberg Club discussed the culture and history of Germany and enjoyed several social activities. Meetings were held at the Kopling House.

Raymond Payne was president. Other officers were Walter Timpermann, Charles Feldmann, and Herman Wenker. Mr. Joseph Bourgeois was advisor.

Spanish Club

Since 1936 the Spanish Club has had for its purpose the extension of the members' knowledge of the Iberian language and their appreciation of the culture of the peoples of Spain and of Latin America.

During 1952-53 the monthly meetings heard speakers and saw movies that contributed to this goal. There were also a dinner at the Spanish Inn and a picnic at the home of Mr. Frank Inserni. The Club participated in the Modern Language Club's dance.

Frank DeFrancis was president, James Richter was vice-president, Leo Grahek was secretary, and Daniel Lavelly was treasurer. Mr. Inserni was advisor.

Economics Club

Through its schedule of monthly meetings and its policy of regularly inviting prominent business leaders as speakers, the Economics Club seeks to give interested students the opportunity to discuss informally some of the problems related to the field of economics. These speakers often give viewpoints and aspects of situations not regularly encountered in textbooks and classroom lectures.

Outside the sphere of economics proper, the Club contributes its share to general school activities, such as those of Family Day and of the annual Homecoming Day celebration.

Officers were Joseph Gagliardo, president; Thomas Siemers, vice-president; John Foley, treasurer; and Thomas Roesener, secretary. Mr. Gerald Harriman acted as faculty moderator.

Chicago Club

The Chicago Club, traditionally strong in numbers and enthusiasm, did nothing during 1952-53 to militate against its traditions. The purpose of the Club, to provide a social outlet for Xavier men coming from the Windy City, was fulfilled in the regular meeting schedule, in a dance in Chicago during the Christmas vacation, in spring picnics, and in a Saint Patrick's Day raffle.

The Chicago contingent performed during the Homecoming Day Float Parade, and carried off the award for constructing the most humorous float.

The men who directed the fortunes of the 1952-53 Chicago Club were Thomas O'Donnell, president; Richard Lusk, vice-president; and Thomas St. John, secretary-treasurer. Faculty advisor was Rev. Paul O'Connor, S.J.

Cleveland Club

Activity, both at Xavier and in Cleveland, was the keynote of the 1952-53 Cleveland Club. During the football season the Club posted an enviable record, sponsoring the pre-Dayton game rally and dance, and winning first place honors in the Homecoming Day Float Parade on October 17. Other activities included several parties and the annual picnic at Sharon Woods.

Club members entertained fellow Clevelanders from Saint Ignatius High School, who journeyed to the Queen City for the State Basketball Playoffs, in March. A reception was held for them in conjunction with Student Council and the Dorm Council.

Activities not confined to Xavier include summer picnics and dances in Cleveland, as well as a dance during the Christmas vacation.

Officers of the Clevelanders, who accept for membership anyone living within a seventy-five mile radius of the city, were James Marquard, president; Robert George, vice-president; Robert Morris, secretary; and Robert Murray, treasurer. Rev. Edward O'Brien, S.J., was faculty advisor.

Sailing Club

The Sailing Club was organized last year by a small number of students whose interests ran in a nautical direction. This year, through a persistent publicity campaign, the Club continued to expand its membership to a respectable number.

The first semester was spent for the most part in readying boats and equipment, although the Xavier sailors did get a taste of inter-collegiate competition.

Highlighting the spring regatta schedule were a triangular meet at Cincinnati on April 18, the state championship meet at Ohio State University on April 25 and 26, a regional meet at Toledo on May 2 and 3, and the Queen City Invitational meet on May 9 and 10.

Activities of the Club extend into the summer months also with programs of regular weekend sailing on the Ohio River and Lake Cowan at Wilmington, Ohio. Sailing Club members stage frequent dances to complement their seafaring activities.

Heading the Club during its second year were Lodge Weber, commodore; Robert Paul, vice-commodore and treasurer; Evening College co-ed Mary Clifford, rear commodore; and Evening College co-ed Hazel Gilbert, secretary. Mr. Joseph Link was faculty advisor.

Alchemyst

The Alchemyst Club membership consists of undergrads majoring in chemistry at Xavier. They meet to learn more about their subjects and to enjoy convivial companionship.

At the monthly meetings during 1952-53 the Club heard guests discuss modern findings in the chemical industry. The Alchemysts held a symposium in April to which students came from Louisville, Indianapolis, and Dayton to discuss pertinent questions.

The Club also sponsored a tour through the Newport Rolling Mills, after which its annual banquet took place at the Hotel Alms.

Alchemyst president was Harry Voet, and Robert McDonald was secretary. Dr. Joseph Klingenberg advised the Club.

Psychology Club

Like the other co-curricular organizations the Psychology Club gives students an opportunity to supplement their classroom and lab work.

Activities of 1952-53 included a tour of the Hamilton County Detention Home for Juveniles, a lecture on The Christian College In Social Service by Mr. Edwin Cunningham of the Evening College faculty, and a trip through the Glenview Home for Boys.

Basil Najjar served as president, and Robert Judy was secretary and treasurer. Dr. Ignatius Hamel acted as faculty advisor.

Accounting Club

To augment academic training the Accounting Society held monthly meetings throughout the year. Men highly placed in the accounting field were featured as speakers.

Among them were Mr. Harry Sonkin of Alexander Grant and Company of Chicago; Mr. K. H. McCracken of Procter and Gamble Company; Mr. F. C. Dennis of Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery of New York City; Mr. John Cook, Jr., and Mr. David Eynon of the National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio; Mr. Newell Jouett Elmore of the Cincinnati Milling Machine Company; Mr. Berl G. Graham, president of the Ohio State Board of Accountancy; and Mr. Charles W. Wilkins of Haskins and Sells of New York City.

Xavier's Accounting Society joined University of Cincinnati students in a meeting at UC on February 10. Mr. J. Tracy Kropp, C.P.A.,

served as moderator, and Xavier speakers were Robert Smith and Robert McCauley.

Evening College student Charles Kierstein, a member of the Accounting Society, won top honors in the annual manuscript contest sponsored by the Cincinnati Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants. The Chapter also awarded the Society permanent possession of the Debate Trophy it won in competition with the University of Cincinnati and Miami University.

Officers of the Accounting Society were Thomas Siemers, president; James Winkler, vice-president; Joseph Kammer, treasurer; and Robert Durbin, secretary. Student directors were Don Schmitt and Ralph Sieve. Alumni directors were Bruce Mayhall and Robert Reis, and Albert Bosch and Eugene Gemperline acted as associate alumni directors. The faculty advisor was Mr. George Selzer.

Booklovers

During 1952-53 the Booklovers met monthly. At their meetings they heard addresses by Xavier's President, The Very Rev. James F. Maguire, S.J.; Mr. Albert Worst, University librarian; Rev. Bernard Wuellner, S.J., Rev. Joseph Peters, S.J., Rev. Clifford Besse, S.J., and Dr. Joseph Link.

The Booklovers held their annual card party at the Sheraton-Gibson Roof Garden on April 7, and assisted in staging the Xavier Mardi Gras.

Officers were Mrs. John Gilligan, president; Mrs. Leonard Schmidt and Mrs. Carol Helmers, vice-presidents; Mrs. William Leesman, treasurer; Mrs. Walter Boeckley, Mrs. Regis Berning, and Mrs. William Schramm, secretaries; and Mrs. Kenneth W. Morrissey, auditor.

Directors were Mrs. Lawrence Budde, Mrs. R. S. Herrlinger, Mrs. George Singer, Mrs. L. E. Oberschmidt, and Mrs. J. M. Feiertag.

Rev. Raymond Allen, S.J., represented the University.

Alumnae

Some 160 members of the Xavier Alumnae Association play an important role in assisting in various departments of Xavier University. This was shown by their active participation in the second annual Mardi Gras Dinner-Dance, and in the annual presentation of the Alumnae English Award and the Alumnae Scholarship Award.

Other activities of the organization were a Day of Recollection, a closed retreat at the Convent of Mary Reparatrix, and a Christmas dinner and party at the Vernon Manor Hotel. Members also form the nucleus of a discussion group which meets once a week at the Evening College.

Officers of the Alumnae are Miss Helen Knecht, president; Miss G. Jenny Bischoff, vice-president; Miss Anna May Blum, secretary; Mrs. Jerome Beckman, treasurer. Board members are Mrs. Raymond Weber, Miss Mary R. Boeddeker, Miss Dorothy Feldkamp, Miss Mary C. Zimmer, and Miss Kathryn A. Kramer. Rev. Jerome Lemmer, S.J., is consultant.

Alumni Association

Beginning with the Homecoming Dance in October, the Xavier University Alumni Association enjoyed a busy and useful year.

In December the Alumni sponsored the general Communion Sunday in honor of the four hundredth anniversary of Saint Francis Xavier, which is recorded elsewhere in The Musketeer, '53. More than seven hundred graduates attended the ceremony. At the breakfast that followed, they heard Dr. Edward Doering, '34, recently returned from Japan, tell of Saint Xavier's influence in that country.

The Blue and White Derby was a solicitation undertaken by the Alumni to equip a laboratory in new Logan Hall as a tribute to the twenty years of service given to Xavier University by Rev. Frederick Miller, S.J., chairman of the Department of Chemistry.

Officers of the Alumni were Messrs. Leo Koester, president; Leo Breslin, vice-president; Thomas Gallagher, treasurer; James Keefe, corresponding secretary; Robert Beirne, historian; and William Bocklage, executive secretary. Rev. J. Peter Buschmann, S.J., was consultant.

Dads Club

Through the years the Dads Club has been accepted by the University as an integral part of its circle of friends, and the Dads have inaugurated an ambitious program to help themselves and the school.

Members of the Dads Club made a day of recollection in November under the direction of Rev. George Fallen, S.J. The large turn-out for this day, the second of its kind for the Dads, leads the officers to believe that a tradition has been established.

The Dads were honored by a program at the Xavier-Dayton game, also in November. Fathers and Sons Night was celebrated in January. The Club also began plans for equipping a physical chemistry laboratory in Logan Hall.

As usual, the Club undertook sponsorship of the Family Day, May 16.

Officers of the Club were Messrs. Lee Wimberg, president; Fred Luebbe, vice-president; Kenneth Morrissey, secretary; and William Schramm, treasurer. Trustees were Messrs. Albert Bissmeyer, Emmett Duffy, Herman Keller, Frank MacVeigh, Lawrence Niemeyer, Leo Oberschmidt, Lawrence Plageman, August Richter, Clifford Sharkey, William P. Shields, and Harry Voet, and Dr. Thomas Heavern. Rev. Edward O'Brien, S.J., was consultant.

Reserve Officers Training Corps

"I, having been appointed a Second Lieutenant of Artillery in the Organized Reserve Corps of the Army of the United States, do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely and without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter: So Help Me God."

The Reserve Officers Training Corps provides an opportunity for the study of subjects of recognized military and educational value which assist the student in laying a foundation of intelligent citizenship. Its primary mission is to produce junior officers who have the qualities and attributes essential to their progressive and continued development as officers in the Army of the United States.

Colonel George Holsinger, in his third year at Xavier, again commanded the unit and was assisted by Lieutenant Colonel Tom Shackelford, Major Robert Frey, Major Jesse Brown, Captain Robert Smith, Captain Ben Parrott, and Lieutenant Ernest Roberts. Working closely with the officers of the military department are the staff members, Sergeant Balch, Sergeant McCarter, Sergeant DeHoe, Sergeant Smith, and Sergeant Baldwin.

The Xavier Regiment was commanded by Cadet Colonel Donald Langfels during 1952-53. His executive officer was Cadet Lieutenant Colonel James O'Connell, and adjutant was Cadet Major Joseph Mueller. Other staff members were Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Richard Austing, and Cadet Majors Donald Schmitt and Paul Palmisano. Battalion commanders were

Every freshman and sophomore student at Xavier spends three hours each week in basic military training. Juniors and seniors may be members of the advanced corps and will, after graduation become members of the United States Army. They also serve as officers for the drill periods on Fridays.

Not only is the R.O.T.C. unit at Xavier a cause for brass polishing and summer camp, but interesting extracurricular activities are attached to it.

The largest of these organizations is the Pershing Rifles. Named for General Pershing, it is an honorary society made up of basic course students who wish to train themselves in the traditional esprit de corps of the Army. Lieutenant Roberts, a graduate of West Point, trains the members to march correctly and to obey orders. The Pershing Rifles demonstrate their skill many times during the school year. The blue and white-corded men perform at football games and on Family Day and add color to functions of the Archdiocese, such as Marian Day and the Holy Name Parade. The program of PR builds up through the year to a climax reached in May at the annual Drill Down. This is a meet which brings together many similar organizations from other schools for competition in marching ability. This year the Drill Down was held at Kent State University.

Another organization which has grown out of the R.O.T.C. Unit at Xavier is the Rifle Club. This group enables students to become experienced riflemen and adds incentive by providing matches with other colleges.

Letters for this sport are awarded by the Athletic Department. This year, at the recommendation of Lieutenant Roberts, advisor, and Sergeant Smith, director, letters were won by Jack Schaefer, James Kelly, Wilfred Wittekind, James Albers, Frank Yass, William Niehaus, John Connolly, and Dave Hils.

In its program of activities the Rifle Club engaged in a shoulder to shoulder match with Miami and with Louisville, and entered into competition at the Fourth Annual Invitational Tournament of the University of Illinois. The

The Xavier Order of Military Merit is also under the direction of the Military Department. This society of advanced students sponsors the Military Ball each year and conducts the election of the Honorary Cadet Colonel from among Xavier's Evening College co-eds. This year the honor went to Hazel Gilbert, who was decorated at the Military Ball April 10 by Cadet Colonel William Conway, X.O.M.M. president. Twenty new members were inducted into the society on the same occasion.

As the 1952-53 year ended, juniors in the Advanced R.O.T.C. were readying themselves for summer camp, which is to be held from June 20 to July 31 at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

The Evening College policy of service with a smile is readily seen on the faces of secretaries Helen Sommer, Mary Ann Carvill, and Sylvia Voskuhl. Kevin Wall is the object of all this service.

For the forty-second consecutive year the Evening Division of Xavier University provided facilities for educating Cincinnatians who pursue their studies after their day's work is done. Approximately fourteen hundred men and women enrolled for courses during both semesters, making this the school's biggest year from the standpoint of enrollment. Included in this number were about three hundred veterans.

Course offerings mirrored the progress and diversity that have long characterized the Evening College. The nucleus of the study program, which included over one hundred and forty courses, was the professional, the commercial, and the traditional liberal arts offerings. Notable new courses, such as the History of Ohio, commemorating Ohio's sesquicentennial anniversary, Elementary Greek, and the Philosophy of Communism, were introduced. Rounding out the Evening College curriculum was a comprehensive list of short courses covering areas of law, supervision, marriage, and decorating. Approximately forty Evening College students were to complete their studies for their Bachelor's degrees and certificates, and graduate in June.

Dean Irvin F. Beumer finished his third year as head of the Evening College, continuing his selfless and efficient service to the cause of Xavier night education. Rev. Victor Nieporte, S.J., dean of admissions of Xavier University, again served as regent. Heading the office staff was Miss Helen Sommer, Evening College secretary. Misses Mary Ann Carvill and Sylvia Voskuhl, and students James Breslin and Joseph Weinle comprised the rest of the office force.

On the side of Evening College student activities, it must be said that the past year was an active one. The Booster Club, which admits to its membership students who have completed two semesters at the Evening College, sponsored many activities throughout the year. First among these was the Get-To-Gether Dance, held on October 22. It was a success in every way. Following this was the Booster movie party of December 5, during which films of the Musketeer football season just completed were shown. Both of these affairs threw open their doors to day students.

New members were accepted by the Boosters at their November 26 meeting. This year's roster of Booster officers included Joseph Sanker, president; Walter Behler, vice-president; Ruth Spinnenweber, secretary; and Jim Siciliano, activities chairman.

Evidence of the close union between students of the day division and the Evening College was to be found in the cordial invitation extended to Evening College students to join the Xavier Sailing Club. Many enjoyable week-end afternoons were spent sailing on Lake Cowan, near

Wilmington, Ohio, center of the Club's nautical activities.

What is perhaps the highlight of the year from many standpoints at the Evening College is the annual Christmas Party, sponsored by the Boosters for the benefit of the small children of Holy Trinity parish in downtown Cincinnati. With the proceeds of the party, which are augmented by a collection taken up among all students, Christmas presents, food, and candy are purchased for distribution to the youngsters.

Frequently during the year, apart from the ever-standing invitation to attend all Xavier activities, Evening College students participate immediately in activities of the Evanston campus. The first of these occasions is the annual Homecoming Day celebration, which highlights the Musketeer football season. For this occasion three members of the fairer sex who are taking courses at the Evening College are chosen by the student body to serve as Homecoming queen and her attendants. Those chosen preside over the entire round of Homecoming festivities. The lucky three this year were Queen Joan Dugan and Attendants Joan Wolterman and Audrey Liebel. Their big day was on October 18.

Hazel Gilbert was the girl similarly honored when the R.O.T.C. Corps of Xavier elected her to the post of Honorary Cadet Colonel. She was guest of honor at the Military Ball on April 10 and at numerous spring functions of the Corps. The queens of the Junior and Senior Proms, held later in the spring, also were to be selected from the Evening College student body.

The annual Evening College dance was to be held on May 22 at the Kemper Lane, scene of previous years' affairs.

All in all another successful year has been entered into the history of the Evening College, and students and faculty alike look forward to returning with even greater interest and ambition when classes resume next fall.

Football

In spite of their smallness in both size and numbers and their relative inexperience, the Musketeers of 1952 displayed the same spirit and determination characteristic of all Xavier teams in winning four games out of ten in what was believed by many to be the most formidable schedule ever faced by a Xavier football team.

Refusing to be discouraged by early setbacks, the Muskies continued to work hard to overcome their weaknesses, and their efforts were well rewarded with victories like the 14-13 triumph over Dayton gained after Xavier trailed by two touchdowns at the half and the convincing 6-0 shutout over Boston College. Even in defeat the Musketeers often performed magnificently as spectators at the Cincinnati and Villanova games will long remember. Writing of the UC contest the Cincinnati Post's Jimmy Miner said, "In thirteen years of covering Xavier it was this writer's greatest thrill. . . . In victory or defeat, no Xavier team ever performed so surprisingly."

Again this year the Musketeers were handled by a capable staff headed by Coach Ed Kluska. The wily mentor, who has been instrumental in bringing Xavier to a leading position in Midwest college football, continued to field a team especially well trained in the fundamentals of hard blocking and sure tackling.

More recognition came to the hard-working Kluska after Xavier's victory in Boston. He was invited to address the nation's top football writers in New York on the quality of Southwestern Ohio's college teams and the capabilities of possession style football.

Among Kluska's assistants, Backfield Coach Charles "Red" Lavelle holds seniority. Besides his work with the XU ball carriers, he is also kept busy with his duties as the Musketeers' chief scout. The difficult assignment of handling Xavier's tricky defensive patterns fell to a newcomer this year, Line Coach Bill Smyth, who saw to it that the Muskie forward wall retained its traditional ruggedness.

Rounding out the coaching staff were the very capable Ray Nolting, who returned again in the capacity of assistant coach and Frank "Rod" Johnson, who developed some very promising varsity prospects as coach of the Xavier Freshmen.

The Musketeers of 1952 were fortunate in having two outstanding men as their co-captains.

A pair of Illinoisians, Frank Milostan from Chicago and John Skole of Joliet, held the role of leadership in the same excellent way which each won three letters as a Musketeer.

Skole continued to be the bulwark of Xavier's defensive line and also saw action as a guard on offense. Milostan was switched to the backfield for a time, but was soon returned to his familiar end spot. He also played quite a bit in the defensive backfield, making him almost a sixty-minute man.

Six other seniors played in a Xavier football uniform for the last time in 1952. They were Bob Bleh, the ever-efficient offensive tackle and guard from Cincinnati; Jack Dowd, the surefingered end from Columbus; Frank Fellerhoff of Cincinnati, the scholarly and clever defensive wingman; Dick Hogan of Troy, Ohio, who continued to perform at offensive center in spite of a series of nose fractures; Kevin Krigbaum, the hard working offensive guard from Marion, Ohio; and Bill Schramm, the genial defensive lineman from Cincinnati.

The first Quantico score came in the second quarter as the result of a balanced series of running and passing plays which moved the ball 65 yards in all. Halfback Jay Roundy cracked over the left side on fourth down for the final few yards. An interception in the final period set up the Leathernecks' other tally, which was scored on a seven yard pass from Dick Flowers to end Art Cotton.

Bobby Judd marked up Xavier's TD on a sweep to the left on fourth down with two and a half minutes remaining after a recovery of a fumble on the Leathernecks' three. Jim Poynter converted. The Muskies recovered the subsequent on-sides kick but could not capitalize on it.

A last period Xavier rally was not enough to catch up with the Marine eleven whose speed and power had built up a big lead in the first three quarters. Lejeune tallied first with only five minutes played when halfback Frank Nastro raced around end on fourth down for 37 yards.

The Muskies fought back to get a score of their own when Bobby Judd registered on a seven yard slant to climax a long drive. Failure on the extra point try left Xavier trailing, 7-6.

The service club struck through the air for two second period touchdowns to take a commanding halftime lead. The passes were by Bill Weeks to Nastro and to Al Nicholas. The Marines continued to roll effectively as the second half started, scoring on a flat pass to Dick Shanor and an 80 yard punt return by Orville Williams.

Midway in the second half the Musketeers came to life with a 65 yard scoring drive ended by Frank Milostan's three yard plunge. Dick Huxel led the Xavier line in smothering halfback Al Holsington in the end zone for a safety. Judd made the final Muskie TD in the fourth period after runs by himself and Jack Byrne combined with a Joe Degaro-Jack Dowd pass set it up.

MIAMI FIELD, OXFORD

A crowd of 11,000 fans saw three years of Xavier supremacy at Oxford come to an end as the Musketeers were unable to muster enough offense to keep pace with the Redskins' explosive attack.

After holding their opponents scoreless through all but two minutes of the first half, the Musketeers fell victim to a sudden screen pass from quarterback Jimmy Root to end Jay Ansel, who covered 50 yards for a touchdown. Tom Pagna paved the way for the next Miami counter in the third quarter when he dashed 62 yards to the X five after which Root tossed a short scoring pass to end Clive Rush.

The Musketeers got their TD as the result of John Skole's recovery of a fumble on the Redskins' six yard line. After rushing failed, Joe Degaro tossed his first scoring pass of the year to Jack Byrne. Jim Poynter added the point after touchdown.

Miami retaliated, however, when Pagana swept to a touchdown from 20 yards out to end a 55 yard push. The final score came after an

Although they entered the annual intra-city classic with but a slim chance of success granted them by most, the Musketeers surprised the football world with a courageous performance that won the admiration of 27,000 spectators and almost the ball game. One or two breaks in key situations might have enabled the fired-up Kluska forces to spring the biggest upset of the UC-XU series.

The Muskies stunned the crowd by taking the initial kickoff and parading 76 yards to score. Joe Degaro combined two short passes to Frank Milostan and to Jack Dowd with runs by Bobby Judd to set up the tally which came when Dowd made a diving catch of a 20 yard Degaro aerial in the end zone.

The 'Cats came right back to score on a 71 yard drive of their own. Gene Rossi flipped to Glen Dillhoff for the TD. Poynter's conversion was matched by Pisanelli, and the score stood 7-7.

Cincinnati took the lead in the second period after a combined ground and air attack was culminated by Dom Del Bene's short plunge. The Musketeers struck back but were thwarted by motion penalties and an interception, and the score stood 14-7 at half time.

Xavier opened the second half with a successful 55 yard drive which saw the hard-blocking offensive line clear the way for key gains by Lenny Frey, and by Judd, who dashed for the final yardage. However, failure on the conversion try left X behind, 14-13, at the half.

Bobby Judd was easily the outstanding player of the day. He saw action on defense as well as offense, where he gained 114 yards. Joe Degaro out-passed the 'Cats' Gene Rossi, completing nine of 13 attempts. Tight defensive work forced the Red and Black to forsake its heralded aerial game in the second half, but the Bearcats had trouble on the ground too as Joe Russell and Dick DeCorps joined veterans Frank Fellerhoff, John Baele, Artie Hauser, and John Skole to shackle many Cincy thrusts.

Louisville tied it up immediately through the passing combination of John Unitas and Dave Rivenbark, and threatened to go ahead until Lee Holben's field goal try was short.

The Muskies took the lead for good in the second period when, after a 35 yard run by Lenny Frey, Joe Degaro connected with Judd on a 36 yard pass play. They added two more tallies in the third frame on a 63 yard march finished by Frey's end run and one of 44 yards made good by Degaro's 17 yard payoff pitch to Jack Dowd.

In the final period Dick DeCorps and Chuck Jaworski tackled Rivenbark for a safety. This helped to prevent Louisville's final TD, which came as the result of a series of Unitas' passes, from affecting the final outcome.

The Musketeers were able to keep the unbeaten Wildcats in check for two quarters but couldn't withstand the Main Liners' big third quarter surge. However, they rolled in the fourth, and it took an interception to insure the Philadelphians' hard won triumph.

Villanova scored the first time it had possession. A series of running and passing plays set up Gene Filipski's only long gain of the day, a 19 yard scoring jaunt wide around his left end.

In the second quarter, which saw an exchange of brilliant quick kicks by Filipski and Xavier's

Bobby Judd, the Muskies drove 27 yards to score. Two Joe Degaro passes, the first to Chuck Jaworski and the second to Jack Dowd for eight yards and the TD, made the intermission score 7-7.

The Main Liners took command early in the second half. Dick Bedesem sprinted for 51 yards before he was caught from behind in a great tackle by Frank Fellerhoff after which Bob Haner exploded for 17 yards to score. Relying on power plays, the Wildcats soon drove for two more touchdowns with Haner and Filipski carrying on smashes of two and three yards.

Although trailing 28-7 in the last quarter, Xavier quickly narrowed the VC margin. Lenny Frey sparked a 65 yard movement which ended with his scoring from the one. Next the Blue and White moved the same distance to score again, with the final 40 yards taken care of by Joe Degaro's pass to Judd. However, the Wildcats blocked Poynter's point after touchdown kick. Nevertheless, the Muskies were still taking to the air in the closing seconds when Villanova safetyman Joe McNicholas returned an interception for a touchdown.

In losing, the Musketeer line, led by Artie Hauser and Bill Schramm, held Filipski, the nation's leading ground gainer at the time, to his smallest net yardage of the year.

A 14 point second half rally, described by Coach Ed Kluska as the greatest comeback he has ever seen a Xavier team make, enabled the Musketeers to surprise the favored Flyers in the teams' first of two meetings. After faltering on both offense and defense in the opening two periods, the Muskies combined a stout defense with solid possession football to win this thriller.

Two second period scoring passes from Frank Siggins to end Jim Currin, one for 15 yards, the other for 34, gave UD a big halftime margin, and Jim Raiff's one missed conversion didn't seem to matter much.

The picture changed altogether in the second half, which found the Muskies running off 52 offensive plays to 32 for their opponents. Taking the opening kickoff, Xavier moved 50 yards to score. Two fourth down passes by Joe Degaro ate up the crucial yardage. The first to Frank Milostan gave X a first down on the Dayton eleven, and the second carried seven yards to Jack Dowd in the end zone.

Minutes later the Musketeers tallied again after a long pass to Dowd put the ball in position for a tricky eight yard end sweep by Bobby Judd. Then Jim Poynter calmly booted his second extra point to provide the winning margin.

Rugged defensive play and an unspectacular but solid offense teamed up to give Xavier its most significant win of the season. The Musketeer forwards limited BC backs to 85 yards on the ground, while the secondary held the favored Eagles to eight completions in 29 attempts. The Muskies' offense, although able to capitalize on only one scoring chance, rushed for a total of 179 yards.

After a defense-dominated first period, a scoring opportunity appeared for the Blue in the form of a fumbled punt which Frank Milostan gathered in on the Boston College nine. On the

In the second half Xavier's hard blocking line, led by Bob Bleh and Mike Conaton, enabled the Muskies to move 77 yards and ring up an apparent score on Bob Judd's end run. A defensive holding penalty, however, and a subsequent interception prevented Xavier from registering.

Artie Hauser made the center of the Xavier line all but impregnable for the Eagles. John Skole and Chuck Jaworski also stood out on the defense as did Lenny Frey on offense.

Following a UD fumble on the Dayton 19 and the failure of a Flyer drive on X's nine, UD picked up its second touchdown on a 13 yard aerial from Frank Siggins to Recker.

In the fourth period the Muskies took to the air to go all the way to the Dayton one, but a heartbreaking fumble prevented their tallying.

At the annual football banquet held December 2 at the Hotel Sheraton-Gibson, the election of tackle John Baele and back Bob Judd as next year's co-captains was announced. The Musketeer Legion of Honor was awarded to senior end Frank Fellerhoff, who consistently stood out scholastically and who was a member of the Clef Club and the Mermaid Tavern in addition to his gridiron activities.

Several Musketeers were honored in the yearly post season polls, but the most frequently mentioned were Bob Judd and Artie Hauser, who made the All-Catholic, All-American team.

Frosh Football

Under the guidance of Coach Frank Johnson, the Xavier freshman squad played a schedule of three games, winning one, losing one, and tying one. The yearlings won their first encounter from the Camp Atterbury Army eleven, 12-6. Quarterback Jim Brockhoff's passing was the big factor in the victory. He tossed two aerials to end Dick Witsken to set up the scores which came on passes to halfbacks Charlie O'Leary and Gino Paloni. Norm Zmyslinski's punting and two interceptions by Don St. John spearheaded the X defense.

Basketball

The 1952-53 Musketeer cagers engaged opponents twenty-three times, and included several triumphs over some of the country's highest ranking quintets among their achievements. Besides breaking even in home-and-home competition against Marshall, Miami, Dayton, Eastern Kentucky, and Louisville, the Muskies took two games from the University of Cincinnati for the first double win ever scored over the Bearcats by an XU basketball squad. Xavier's forces also showed well in hotly-contested fracas with such top flight foes as Minnesota, Siena, Villanova, and Seton Hall's NIT Champions.

This marked the second year that the young and energetic Ned Wulk has been Xavier's head basketball coach. And again he turned out a team who emphasized speed, determination, and scoring, and who provided Musketeer fans with some of the most exciting basketball in the Midwest. Two seniors, Dick Berning and Jim Bunning, acted as freshman coaches, and assisted Wulk in scouting and other details.

Serving as co-captains of the 1952-53 Musketeers were two of the most outstanding Xavier cagers of the past several seasons. They were seniors Herb "Huck" Budde, forward, of Fort Thomas, and Tom Simms, guard, of Louisville.

Budde set an all-time Xavier scoring record in 1952-53 by amassing 501 points to eclipse the 495 mark established by Gene Smith in the previous season. Simms, the relentless driver and scrappy playmaker, led the team in field goal percentage with a fine .410 average, and was second to Budde in scoring with a 356 point total.

Two other Xavier seniors who finished their hoop careers in the campaign were center Bob "Trebs" Dickman of Covington, and guard Dave Hils of Park Hills.

XAVIER 87, UNION 73

Huck Budde initiated his drive to break the scoring record by collecting 25 points in the season's opener. Tom Simms tallied 18 as the Muskies built up a 44-33 halftime lead which was never threatened.

XAVIER 81, GEORGETOWN 53

The Muskies made it two in a row at the Fieldhouse by leading the Tigers from the start to ring up an easy win. All the members of the X squad saw action with Bob Dickman getting 20 points to top the scoring.

XAVIER 96, MARSHALL 91

The fast breaking Thundering Herd connected on 40 percent of its shots from the floor in the first half to assume a six point advantage at the intermission, but led by the sharpshooting of Huck Budde and Tom Simms, who dropped in 33 and 32 points respectively, the Wulkmen took a 74-72 command with a quarter left, and were never headed after that. Walt Walowac was responsible for 30 Herd points.

XAVIER 73, LAWRENCE TECH 99

The old road jinx caught up with the Muskies in Detroit and tumbled them. After an even first period center Werner Killen, who tallied 35 points, led LIT into a comfortable lead. Huck Budde produced 25 points for X.

XAVIER 75, BALDWIN-WALLACE 76

An eight point lead in the last ten minutes was not sufficient to prevent Xavier from being upset by one point by the Yellow Jackets, whose freshman center, Tom Blackwood, provided them with 34 points. Huck Budde's 31 tallies led the Muskie attack.

XAVIER 90, HANOVER 49

Returning from their Christmas holiday, the Musketeers turned in one of their best defensive performances of the year to outclass the Panthers. Coach Wulk cleared his bench after Huck Budde, who tallied 18 points, and Bob Heim with 17 had paced X to a 46-19 halftime bulge.

XAVIER 81, CINCINNATI 78

A last minute rally climaxed by Bob Heim's fast break lay-up enabled the Muskies to grab victory in the first of the two annual intra-city battles after the Bearcats had tied up matters in the final period. Xavier had taken a big first half advantage, but principally through the efforts of Jack Twyman, Cincy had forged ahead until the final Muskie burst which was effected by the clutch play of Heim, Tom Simms, and Huck Budde. Budde paced all scorers with 26 points.

XAVIER 70, DAYTON 68

The Muskies halted a seven game, three year stretch of Dayton supremacy by holding on to a slim margin in the contest's final seconds. After a 29-29 first half, X had gone ahead, but led by Jack Sallee, the Flyers had narrowed the difference to a single point. Paul Margerum converted a pair of foul shots to insure the victory. Tom Simms found the Maroons' weakness in the third period, and thanks to his dazzling drive-ins the Muskies wiped out a 41-36 half-time deficit, and went on to spring a major upset on the highly-regarded Eastern club. Xavier scored 51 percent of its field goal tries with Simms getting eight for nine and 25 points, and Bob Heim adding 21. Chuck Hofmann played a crucial role in the win with his timely rebounding.

XAVIER 71, BALDWIN-WALLACE 88

Substitute guard Jerry Suess sank Xavier hopes in the third quarter with a barrage of long one-handers. They netted him 25 points as the Yellow Jackets became the only team to beat the Muskies twice in the 1952-53 season. Huck Budde had 22, and Trebs Dickman 17 for X.

XAVIER 89, JOHN CARROLL 82

The Musketeers gained an even split in their Cleveland trip by passing the Blue Streaks for good with three minutes left when Bob Heim cashed in on two free throws. For Xavier, Huck Budde collected 25 points, Bob Dickman 18, and Jim Phelan 17. George Dalton led Carroll with 18.

The Musketeers had to fight back with time almost gone to gain a clean sweep of the year's UC series. Huck Budde calmly hooked Xavier into a 67-66 lead after two Simms' foul tosses had narrowed the margin. Xavier led, 23-13 and 37-30, at the quarter and the half, but a 'Cat drive late in the game had put UC in front. Budde and Jim Phelan had 15 points each for X, while Simms and Bob Heim posted 13 apiece. Joe Okruhlica's 18 was tops for UC.

XAVIER 80, LOUISVILLE 74

The Muskies came roaring back from six points behind at the half to take the lead from the NIT-bound Cardinals, and then to hold on tenaciously to win, thanks to Bob Heim's consistency from the free throw line in the last few minutes. Heim totaled 22 points for the evening, and was closely followed by Tom Simms and Huck Budde with 19 each. Xavier connected on 14 of 26 field goal attempts in the second half.

XAVIER 63, DAYTON 81

XAVIER 110, MIAMI 90

The Musketeers scored one of the most significant of all Xavier basketball victories anywhere by surprising Miami's excellent team on its own Withrow Court in Oxford and by breaking a two-year Redskin win streak at home.

Phenomenal shooting rocketed the Wulkmen into a 57-40 lead at the half, and the Muskies weathered a full court Miami press throughout the second half to annex the victory. In registering the highest Xavier point total ever rung up, four Muskies hit in double figures. They were Bob Heim with 28, Tom Simms with 25, Huck Budde with 21, and Jim Phelan with 18. Dick Walls caged 28 for Miami.

XAVIER 78, MARSHALL 83

Although the Muskies were able to overcome a 47-37 halftime deficit and take the lead in the second half, they faltered late in the game to allow Marshall to revenge the defeat administered earlier at the Xavier Fieldhouse. For Xavier, Trebs Dickman tallied 23 points, Huck Budde 22, and Tommy Simms 18. Only nine personal fouls were charged against the Thundering Herd in the game.

At the annual basketball banquet held at the Hotel Sinton on March 10, Bob Heim, the team's third scorer with 301 points, was given the Xavier University News Most Valuable Player Award, and was also named as next season's captain. The scrappy ballhawk was frequently mentioned in the various post-season polls along with Co-Captains Budde and Simms.

The Associated Press found his talk newsworthy, and carried an account of it. Comments were received from such scattered places as Newark, New Jersey; Spokane, Washington; and Miami, Florida.

Musketeer followers at the dinner agreed that the hoopmen they had cheered during the season had performed excellently, and had at all times shown the spirit and the fire as well as the basketball know-how of Xavier's great teams of the past. The 1953-54 season, it was also agreed, will be another one to look forward to with anticipation high.

Frosh Basketball

The freshman basketball team of 1952-53 produced one of the best records ever hung up by a Xavier frosh squad. In winning 12 of 15 games the forces of Coaches Dick Berning and Jim Bunning scored two wins over both the University of Cincinnati frosh and Miami frosh, and split with Dayton.

Four members of the squad averaged in double figures for the season. They were forward-guard Jim O'Connell with 243 points and a 16.2 average, center Dave Piontek with 241 points and a 16 average, forward Dick Schneider with 187 points and a 12.4 average, and guard Lou Vonderbrink with 177 points and a 11.1 average.

Intramurals

A keen rivalry existed on the Xavier campus during 1952-53, as the Xavier University Intramurals Program, under the direction of Ned Wulk, experienced one of its best years.

Touch football and basketball held the interest of the majority of the undergrads, and a high brand of ball playing was exhibited by several teams in both of the sports. Besides touch football and basketball the intramural setup includes tournaments in volley ball and softball. There are also a number of individual tournaments, which include free throws, shuffleboard, handball, and table tennis.

Elet 3A won the intramural touch football championship by edging Marion 3A, 18-13 in the finals. The Elet team was paced by the league's leading scorer, Bob Dobransky.

A smooth-operating Elet 2B basketball squad captured the intramural basketball championship by overcoming a battling Hall 8 squad in the finals by a 64-58 margin in the championship tourney, in which the leading teams in the three leagues were entered.

The champions advanced to the finals by mauling Marion 2B, 95-41, and edging Marion 3A, 73-69. Hall 8, on the other hand, had quite a battle in order to reach the finals. They slipped past the sharpshooting Elet 2A squad 49-47, and then dropped Hall 15 by a 59-51 score.

Jim Shaughnessy and Joe Mueller paced the Marion team to their first championship. Other members of the championship team were Ed Hake, Joe Russell, Bill Daley, Artie Hauser, Jim Powers, Bob Damm, and Tony Simone. Mueller was the outstanding scorer of the season, averaging around 25 points a game.

The only other championship decided before the printing deadline was free throws. Jeff Gray of Hall 15 garnered the laurels by connecting on 22 out of a possible 25 shots to annex the crown.

The runner-up position was shared by four men, Pat Levine and Dick Tobin of Elet 1B, Bob Burskey of Hall 13, and Tom Dunn of Marion 2, all with 19.

The rest of the intramural tournaments were under way and enjoyed good participation.

Golf

The Xavier golf team, coached again by Ray Baldwin, faced a big problem as it opened its 1953 season. In seeking to defend the Ohio Intercollegiate Championship which they won in 1952 the linksmen could count on the services of only two lettermen. These were Captain Jim Grady, a veteran of many local golf battles, and sophomore Tom McFarland. However, aid was forthcoming from Ollie Brockman, Jim Joering, Charlie Deye, Bill O'Connor, Joe Schutte and Tom Kneer.

Spring Sports

Front: Morris, McCarthy, Niemeyer, Berning (Captain), George, McMahon, Donovan. Back: St. John, Mueller, Ulmer, Wayman, Bolger, Chandler, Hils, and Daley.

Baseball

Coach Ned Wulk was optimistic over the chances of the baseballing Musketeers though he needed replacements in several key positions left vacant through graduation.

Leading the Muskies was Dick Berning, power-hitting third baseman and captain. Other returning regulars included Dave Hils, Joe Mueller, Tom St. John, Bill Donovan, Bob George, and Joe Degaro.

The schedule included home and home games with the University of Cincinnati, Miami, University of Dayton, Eastern Kentucky, Hanover, and Wright-Patterson Air Field. Single games were scheduled with Ohio State and Ohio University.

Tennis

The tennis fortunes of Xavier seem to be on the rise, especially with the appointment of Bob Massman as tennis coach. The new Musketeer mentor, who was graduated from Xavier in 1946 after serving with the U. S. Navy in World War II, is a member of the board of directors of the Hyde Park Tennis Club. He won honors while playing for Purcell High School, where he and his partner won the state doubles championship.

The racqueteers scheduled a formidable 13-match season, meeting the University of Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky, University of Cincinnati, Hanover, Wilmington, and University of Dayton twice, and Miami once.

Front: Trivilino, McDermott, Vonderbrink, Discepoli. Back: Cardarelli, Hake, McQuaide, Pardi, Massman (Coach).
